Sermon From The Matt

The Supreme Ruler, and High Priest of FAAB, Father Augustine has decreed upon his SFFL congregation to not follow “Mr. Mersch” on his crusade...

“You have no idea how much it pains me to see Paul running away with the Doomsday division.”

“Brethren,

Paul, bless his heart. This is the man asking you to raise the FAAB next year:

 Yadda yadda yadda*

 Yadda yadda yadda*

 Yadda yadda yadda*

 Yadda yadda yadda*

 Yadda yadda yadda*

 Yadda yadda yadda*

So, before you follow Paul on this particular crusade, consider the source... bless his heart.”

The Miracle of Faab

In the quiet little dairy town of Sun Prairie, Wisconsin there's a tiny convent that houses three nuns. Among other holy tasks, they are the living miracles behind this thing we call Faab. Says Sister Mary Faabulous, "Heavens, you just don't know how busy we nuns are throughout the week."

It all starts out with the Thursday evening collections. "That's a very holy day around here." All collections must be in by 6pm. "Father Augustine is very stern about this and we are very afraid of him. With twelve teams and $40 Faab, it's a miracle that we're able to update the transactions log by next morning. That's our vow."

Asked about the recent Faab poll, the nun replied "Consider the source. You know, Father does not take kindly to suggestions about increasing collections. We nuns are busy enough. We've got on Catechism on Wednesdays, Bingo on Friday nights, Mass on Sundays....."

Online Rule Change Summit?

SFFL,

I have an idea. Let me know what you think...

I'd like to get all rule change ideas on the table right now. We can handle discussing them online via a special message board I set up. We can spend however long we need ironing out the ideas and then put them to a vote. The advantage of doing it now instead of in the off season is we'll have more time and we're all in "football mode."

Here's the catch... If we do that and enact the changes for the 2008 season, I will not consider any more rule changes until 2010. That means we'd have two full seasons of the same rules (2008 and 2009).

What do you think?

Augie

P.S. My motivation? I just do not have the time, inclination, or patience to consider rules changes all season long and in the preseason. We need some consistency -- something other owners have been saying the last couple of years, and now I understand why.
