P-Cubed Setting SFFL Records

P-Cubed set a SFFL record for the most consecutive wins in a row in week 10 by defeating the Pigskins. The Pigskins incidentally established the record last year by starting out the season 9-0. P-Cubed continues to add upon the consecutive wins record by upping their mark to 11-0 this past weekend.

P-Cubed is also on pace to shatter the SFFL record of points scored. According to the Supreme Ruler, "The regular season record for most points is 1,313, scored by Hennings in 2004. With games still to play this week and three weeks to go in our regular season, Brad is on pace to score approximately 1,508 points during our regular season, obliterating Hennings' record. The record for most points scored during the regular season and playoffs combined is 1,522, scored by Mersch in 2005. Brad is on pace to score approximately 1,723 points."

I think we can safely proclaim P-Cubed the "Hog Of The Year."

Blackcat Jams Web Site

Blackcat owner, Dave Boden, was unable to access CBS Sportsline last weekend. Our Supreme Ruler and Commissioner, Matt Augustine, tried to regain our hero his access by hacking through the CBS Sportsline firewall.

Our Blackcat friend is back on-line, but his login difficulties and Augie's hacking may have jammed the web site and corrupts its data. Here's some headlines based on that...

Bear Necessities Remain Undefeated

It appears the Bear Necessities are having a great season and have a chance to finish undefeated. Boasting a backfield of Fred Taylor and Cedric Benson, Butch Eads and Chris Stenger have really worked miracles this year. Says Stenger, "I think the $56 salary we paid for Philip Rivers has been the key." The SFFL knew in the preseason the Bear Necessities would possibly threaten for the championship having stalwart keepers like Steven Jackson and the Bears Defense. The proof is in the Bear Necessities record.

P-Cubed Can't Buy A Win

There are rumors that the P-Cubed franchise may be up for sale following the season if the team doesn't turn things around. Says Schumann, "You'd think having Westbrook, Owens, Moss, and Ronnie Brown would account for something." The four players are arguably the best statistically, but when you add up the wins and loses P-Cubed is perched at the bottom. P-Cubed has been in the championship game the last two years in a row finishing second both times. P-Cubed is now most likely playing for next year or selling the team to professional bowler Chris Stenger.

Doomsday Division Up For Grabs

Spending $200 on a running back is crazy, no? Don't tell DT that. No sooner do the D-Teasers trade the pricey back to the Knuckle Dusters, now Augie appears to be headed possibly for his second championship in a row. It's not Ladainian's statistics. But is it just having the man-love child on one's roster? Knuckle Dusters were 1-3 before the trade, but have miraculously improved to 9-2 since. D-Teasers and War Pigs have both zoomed past the suddenly hapless Pigskins putting the division up for grabs. What a difference one player can make.
